A Year Dedicated to SHARE Volunteers

The pandemic has brought so many changes to SHARE. Since March 2020, our goals have been to continue to offer our programs to those struggling in our communities, and to protect the health and safety of our clients, staff and volunteers. To accomplish those goals, we had to change the way we do so many things, yet still make sure our clients received the help they desperately needed. We are proud that we stayed open throughout the pandemic without interruption, continuing our mission. None of this would have been possible without the sacrifice of our volunteers, who are key to our success through the pandemic.

Those who have been volunteering since the shutdown are true heroes, working on the front lines. Few took on the work of many as we instituted strict social distancing protocols. Once a week volunteering was a thing of the past as the volume of work increased, and many came to help four and five days a week. In addition, these dedicated heroes worked with staff to determine the best new way of working. Procedures and policies changed, much of it designed and implemented by our volunteers.

We are in awe of our volunteers' dedication to serving those who need us most. We know that each volunteer is motivated to help at SHARE by something different, but none signed on to be such a critical piece during a once in a century pandemic. But they are, and we are thankful for them all.

“Even through the pandemic, SHARE was able to respond and provide for those who need our help. It is exciting to be part of that.”

“I volunteer because I believe we are all called to serve others. I cannot think of a better way to spend some of my retirement hours.”

“I love seeing the clients come for food and be excited about the choices we are able to offer. They are so grateful and happy.”
